Congratulations on your appointment and welcome to the Adjutant General School. You have volunteered to lead Soldiers in an Army at war. I am proud of you for making that commitment and eager to help prepare you for such an awesome responsibility.

Our mission for Adjutant General WOBC is two-fold. First, to train, educate, and (most importantly) inculcate you into our warrant officer corps and reinforce your knowledge of the Army values to help you better understand the Army officer culture. Secondly, we have a responsibility to the Army to make you technically proficient in Human Resources. When you graduate, you will be competent, confident and adaptive and ready to lead Soldiers in your next unit of assignment.

Your prior experience has exposed you to basic Soldier skills. We will transition you from a candidate into a Human Resources professional and a Leader. No longer merely in the receive mode as a student--you, warrant officers, will take an active role in your learning experience. At times, you will lead and instruct your classmates. Your developmental experience at Fort Jackson will be augmented with warrant and commissioned officers excited to be a part of your training and who will coach, teach, and mentor you throughout this training. This eight week, three day course will further develop and prepare you as HR Professionals and Adjutant General leaders.

You will leave AG WOBC with a stronger warrior ethos, job proficiency, and mentally and physically prepared to fight and win our nation's wars.

Again, congratulations. We look forward to your arrival.
