

MediaWiki Getting Started Guide

Page Editing, History & Options

Once you log in and create a page, you can use links in the left bar and the bottom of each page.

	To make content changes and save the page as a new version, click on the “Edit this page” link. To move the page to another “namespace” or category, click on the “Move this page” link.

	To see changes made on the page and to compare different versions of the page, click on the “Page History” link. To see what has changed on the page, select two different versions of the page and click on the “Compare selected versions” button. You can clear changes made in a particular version by clicking on the “Undo” or “Rollback” links.

Managing Users & Pages

As an administrator, you can manage users and pages by clicking on the “Special Pages” link on the upper right side. You can change users’ rights by adding them to one of the following groups:

- Administrators, who can manage other users and pages, including deleting them.
- Bureaucrats, who can edit users’ rights, such as adding users to other groups.

Adding Pages, Categories & Files

It is easy to add content by appending text to the website address. You can also create categories to organize your pages. After index.php, type:

- /PageTitle to create a page with the page title you want. If the page does not exist, you can click on the “Edit this page” and “Create this page” links to create the page. If there is a page with the same title, you can edit, watch, discuss, delete, protect or move the page.

- /Category:CategoryName to create a category and add pages to it. Want to put your meeting agendas in one category? Type Category:Agenda, click on the “Create this page” link, add some descriptive text and save the page. You can now add all future meeting agenda pages to this category.
- /File: FileName.extension to add files including documents, images, media, etc. Want to add a new chart and link to it? After index.php in the web address, type File:Chart.png and you’ll be able to upload the chart by clicking on the “upload one” link. On the “Upload file” page you can upload files or view or search previously uploaded files by clicking on the “list of uploaded files” link. To include a file in a page, use a link in one of the forms as described on the “Upload file” page.

Visit Special Pages and Statistics to manage your site’s pages and analytics.
