

TESTIMONY TO NATIONAL COMMISSION ON HUNGER

Submitted via webpage

Allissa Eiser, RD

aeiser@bcsd.neric.org

Very simply, I think there are already many programs available, especially for children in the public school system. As a dietitian and school food service director, I believe that if school staff and teachers knew more about what school meals programs provided they would be more effective at connecting students to necessary food resources at school. Maybe mandated training about school district services for students (like meals) so that teachers and other staff can best give students and parents all the information to access what they need.