

PUBLIC SYMPOSIUM
PLIGHT OF THE BUMBLE BEES

Monday, June 22

10:30 am – 1:00 pm
Smithsonian Institution
National Museum of Natural History
Baird Auditorium

(10th Street and Constitution Avenue, NW, Washington, DC)

Featuring:

Stephen Buchmann, University of Arizona

USA Native Bee Diversity: Rarity, Threats & Conservation Ideals

Paul Williams, Natural History Museum, London

A Global View of Bumble Bees and Their Conservation Status

Robbin Thorp, University of California, Davis

Western Bumble Bees in Peril

Sydney Cameron and Jeff Lozier and, University of Illinois

Status and Trends of Midwestern and Southern Bumble Bees

Leif Richardson, Vermont Department of Fish and Wildlife

Bumble Bee Trends in Northeastern North America

Moderator: Michael Ruggiero, Smithsonian Institution

Celebrate National Pollinator Week, June 22 - 28!

Sponsored by the US Geological Survey, Smithsonian Institution,
National Biological Information Infrastructure, Pollinator Partnership, and Integrated Taxonomic Information System (ITIS)