Federal Health Information Centers and Clearinghouses

Office of Disease Prevention and Health Promotion
U.S. Department of Health and Human Services

Federal health information centers and clearinghouses provide free public information and resources.

Many offer toll-free numbers and Web sites. Their services include:

- Distributing publications
- Providing referrals
- Answering questions

Use the directory to search for a clearinghouse by keyword (such as Injury or Homeless) or alphabetically.

Most phone numbers can be reached Monday through Friday during normal business hours (Eastern Time), except on Federal holidays or when otherwise noted.

This directory is compiled every year by the National Health Information Center, which is a service of the Office of Disease Prevention and Health Promotion (ODPHP), Office of Public Health and Science, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.
