

If You Are Pregnant . . .

Eating Certain Cheeses Could Harm Your Baby!

Cheeses made from unpasteurized milk can contain bacteria called Listeria. It can make your baby sick – even before he is born.

- Don't eat Mexican-style soft cheese like Queso Fresco, Panela, Asadero or Queso Blanco unless the label states that it is made from pasteurized milk.

- Do not buy or eat Queso Fresco sold door-to-door.
- If you think you may have eaten contaminated cheese while pregnant, call your doctor or clinic.
