

Do you and your community members have questions about how the Affordable Care Act can help people access health care? You can find answers to questions about health care reform by visiting the newly-launched HealthCare.gov website, a “one-stop shop” that offers you the facts on health care reform. At HealthCare.gov you can:

- Using the new “Insurance Finder,” answer a series of simple questions to compare health insurance plans and view a list of options that work best for you depending on your particular health situation and needs.
- Read a list of the top five things you should know about health care access under the new law.
- Learn ways you can improve the quality of your life and prevent illness.
- Compare hospitals, nursing homes and dialysis facilities that best fit your needs.

Whether you are a young adult trying to learn more about extended coverage under your parents’ insurance, or a senior looking for more information about how the Affordable Care Act affects your Medicare benefits, you can find answers to questions you may have at HealthCare.gov.

When you visit HealthCare.gov, be sure to check out the “Understand the New Law” section to find a timeline showing when parts of the law take effect. Video tutorials and written instructions will help guide you to the information you need.
