SECTION C

STATEMENT OF WORK

1. INTRODUCTION

This document is a Statement of Work specifying the intent of the United States Mint (the Mint) to outsource distributed computing services, network services, and data center services through the issuance of task orders.

2. BACKGROUND

Since Congress created the United States Mint in 1792, the Mint has grown to a Fortune 500-sized manufacturing and international marketing enterprise with more than $3.7 billion in annual revenues and 2,800 employees. It is the world's largest manufacturer of coins, medals and coin-based consumer products.

The primary mission of the Mint is to produce an adequate volume of circulating coinage for the Nation to conduct its trade and commerce. With the introduction of the 50 States Commemorative Quarters and the Golden Dollar, the Mint is now experiencing annual production in excess of 27 billion coins. The other major responsibilities of the Mint include:

- Distributing U.S. coins to the Federal Reserve banks and branches
- Maintaining physical custody and protection of the Nation's $100 billion of U.S. gold and silver assets
- Producing proof and uncirculated coins, commemorative coins and medals for sale to the general public
- Manufacturing and selling platinum, gold and silver bullion coins
- Oversight of production facilities in Denver, Philadelphia, San Francisco and West Point, New York, and the U.S. Bullion Depository at Ft. Knox, Kentucky
- Receiving, redeeming and processing mutilated coins.

In support of this mission, the Mint Office of Information Technology (OIT) contracts for IT infrastructure services to enable the organization to meet its mission objectives. At present, OIT IT support is provided through its IT professional staff who direct the efforts of various contractors.

3. CONTRACT AND INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

3.1 Contract Objectives

The Mint seeks to achieve the following objectives through issuance of task orders for technical services which may include but not be limited to the distributed computing environment, telecommunications, networking, and data center support.

- Continue to provide and improve upon high-quality service levels to the end customers
- Continue to provide and improve upon IT systems quality, availability, security and integration
- Minimize operating costs
- Institute expanded, more-systematic use of service-level agreements and performance measurements
- Migrate to a fixed, unit-price performance (Service Level Approach "SLA")-based contract
- Enable existing IT staff to focus on higher "value-added" IT management, technology and program support functions
- Assure a "risk-free" transition with minimum disruption to Mint activities and no disruption to business activities
- Further strengthen and standardize IT management within the Agency.

The overall objective of this Contract is to define, for response by a contractor, requirements necessary to establish and sustain effective and efficient managed life-cycle support of the Mint's Office of Information Technology (OIT) services. The Mint wishes to implement an IT infrastructure that is consistent with industry best practices and expects the contractor to provide a comprehensive, best-value solution for contracted services.

The Mint directly purchases and retains title to the hardware and software needs of the Mint end users.

3.2 Information Technology Goals and Objectives.

The goal of information technology at the Mint is to pursue new ways of applying computing and communications technologies to the practical problems of information management. The OIT and Office of the Chief Information Officer (OCIO) seek to reduce the cost and improve the quality of government services, reduce technology risks, and share the results of projects throughout the Federal sector. These offices have the following objectives:

- Support innovations that improve productivity and enhance public services

- Examine how technology can help reduce government spending and reduce the cost of doing business
- Encourage standards to support effective sharing of information within government, business and the public.

The OIT and OCIO address information technology issues of strategic concern, such as: capital planning, computing systems architecture, software technology, common interoperable services, mobile computing and networking, and security and survivability technologies.

4. GENERAL SERVICE ENVIRONMENT

Distributed Computing, as provided to the desktop/end user, is defined as the local information technology (IT) hardware and software resources that connect to the computer system or local-area network that supports individual and collective use in the business environment. Distributed Computing hardware resources includes networked and non-networked (standalone or isolated networked machines) personal computer (PC) systems (e.g., desktop, tower, workstation and laptop computers), Personal Digital Assistant (PDA) devices (palm-sized, handheld devices), servers (e.g., file, print, application, mail, etc.), peripheral devices (e.g., printers, scanners, plotters, facsimile servers, compact disc [CD] jukeboxes), media libraries. Distributed Computing software includes but is not limited to operating systems, office automation applications, software suites, and utilities that provide functionality to the above-mentioned hardware resources. Service desk is included in the distributed computing environment as are the associated systems for enterprise management. The Distributed Computing environment encompasses the entire device to include the network interface card (NIC) or adapter, but does not include the local area network infrastructure.

Data Center Services are defined as enterprise servers such as HP, Unix, S390 and NT service and support. This includes the operation, maintenance and monitoring of the application servers and peripherals.

Network Services is defined as the provision of, and the ongoing support of, multi-platform, multi-protocol electronic data and voice communications networks, to include communications devices (modems, routers, switches, hubs, PBXs, telephone sets, etc.) and circuits/network facilities. Attachment M-5 provides US Mint Technical Architecture diagram.

Attachment M-6 provides standard server software configurations. Attachment M-7 provides an inventory of servers currently supported by US Mint OIT.

Table 1 below presents the services and assets that are included in the environment and are part of this Contract. As such, the Mint may issue task orders within any of these areas.

The distributed computing environment at the Mint is currently supported by a combination of technically skilled Mint and contract employees. Mint administrators provide much of this support in the regional offices while some regional offices are augmented with contractor assistance. At some facilities (e.g., at Headquarters), both Mint administrators and contractors provide the support necessary to maintain a superior distributed computing environment.

4.1.1 General Responsibilities

The following are general responsibilities that the service Contractor(s) may perform:

- Providing the services, covering the service environment described in the Task Orders, at the prescribed service levels. The service Contractor is responsible for performing the roles and responsibilities defined in the Task Orders.

The Task Order Oversight Process is similar to the Contract oversight process, except that all reports are due to the Task Order COTR for review and approval one week in advance of the Contract process. Specific task order oversight procedures shall be specified in each Task Order.

6. CONTRACT SERVICE LEVELS

6.1 Service Level Contracting

This Contract serves as a vehicle by which the Mint will move increasingly toward performance-based contracting (service-level contracting). In support of this Contract and task orders issued hereunder, the Mint plans to implement a process to set service levels.

The contractor will be required to meet and deliver the services based on the service levels defined in individual Task Orders. Contractor performance will be measured against these service levels. Toward that end, a contractor must propose a credit program for failure to achieve the desired level of service. Formulas and percentages used to calculate penalties may be reviewed annually at the Mint's behest and updated by mutual accord of the Mint and Contractor.

All credits will be calculated quarterly. The credit will be calculated based on the actual respective Government FY Task Order cost for the quarter.

At the end of Government FY02 and each successive fiscal year thereafter, the Mint may choose to revise the service levels defined in individual Task Orders based on experience gained, contractor performance or Mint requirements. Service-level changes will be as mutually negotiated between the Mint and the contractor.

6.2 Benchmarking

The Mint believes that benchmarking is an important part of evaluating and managing the relationship with the contractor. During Government FY02, the Mint and Contractor will agree to an acceptable benchmark process and benchmarker for the services within the scope of this Contract. The purpose of the benchmark will be to assess the price and quality of the contractual arrangement relative to both in-house and, potentially, outsourced peer companies. The Mint and the Contractor will agree to price and quality targets that MUST be maintained over time.

7. CONTRACTOR MISCELLANEOUS

7.1 Training

The Contractor shall provide fully trained and experienced technical and lead personnel required for performance. Training of contractor personnel shall be performed at the Contractor's own expense, except:

- When the Mint has given prior approval for training to meet special requirements that are peculiar to a particular Task Order. The Mint will pay any direct charges associated with authorized training (e.g., tuition, travel and per-diem, if required) and the Contractor shall pay, without the Mint reimbursement, salary and other expenses.
- Limited training of Contractor employee(s) may be authorized when the Mint changes the Automated Data Processing Equipment ("ADPE") and software during performance of an ongoing task and it is determined to be in the best interest of the Mint.

The Mint will not authorize training for contractor employees to attend seminars, Symposia or User Group Conferences, unless certified by the Contractor and the Mint that attendance is mandatory for the performance of a Task Order. When training is authorized by the Contracting Officer, in writing, and under the conditions set forth above, the Mint will reimburse the Contractor for tuition, travel and per diem, if required.

Training at Government expense shall not be authorized for replacement personnel, nor for the purpose of keeping Contractor personnel abreast of advances in the state-of-the art or for training Contractor employees on equipment, computer languages and computer operating systems that are available on the commercial market. Training shall not be authorized at Government expense to develop skills on hardware and software that were already being used by the Mint at the time of the award of the contract.

The contractor will provide training for contractor employees within a reasonable amount of time after issuance of software upgrades. The contractor will provide the Mint COTR and CO with a training plan for each position proposed that demonstrates the contractor's ability and willingness to keep personnel up-to-date with the latest technology trends and software releases. These training plans will be updated and submitted no less than annually. Such training is considered routine and necessary and all expenses will be the contractor's.

- Office and working space for contract-related services and for the performance of those Task Orders which require performance at other than a Government site
- Office equipment and consumable supplies required in the performance of, or in support of, this contract

Proof of citizenship is required for those citizens born outside of the U.S., to include either a Permanent Resident Status Card, Certificate of Naturalization, or Certificate of Birth Abroad. Waivers to this requirement may be approved only on a case-by-case basis and only by the Treasury Director of Security.

(b) Pre-Work Clearance. (c) Investigative Requirements.

2. Contractor personnel and/or subcontractor personnel expected to exceed 60 days shall complete MF 5009 above as well as:

The Mint will retain 10% of monies due under the contract for each individual contractor employee badge that is not surrendered to the Mint COTR.

However, the granting of a temporary clearance to any such employee shall not be considered as assurance that full clearance will follow as a result or condition thereof, and the granting of either temporary or full clearance shall in no way prevent, preclude, or bar the withdrawal or termination of any such clearance by the Mint.

(3) Furthermore, a security clearance granted by the Mint to a contractor employee is intended to be effective for the duration of the employee's performance at the Mint and is not necessarily transferable to other Government agencies or to private corporations.

6. Non business-related activities will not be reimbursed, i.e., movies in hotel rooms, personal phone calls, sight seeing ventures, transportation to night time activities or events, etc.

7. Tips should not exceed 15% of the cost for taxis, etc.

Note: As government per diem rates are revised in the Federal Travel Regulation, the new rates will automatically be effective on the date of the revision. If additional expenses are needed, they must be justified, supported by receipts where applicable, and approved by the COTR. If you cannot obtain a hard copy or access a Website for the Federal Travel Regulation (FTR), contact the Contracting Officer for assistance.

I.27 AUDIT AND RECORDS (Clause #I-106, June 1999)

The Contracting Officer or authorized representatives of the Contracting Officer shall have the right to examine and audit all of the Contractor's books, records, documents, and other data, including computations and projections related to proposing, negotiating, pricing or performing the contract or any modification, in order to evaluate the cost or pricing data submitted. In addition, the above persons shall have the right to examine and audit books, records documents and other evidence and accounting procedures and practices sufficient to reflect properly all costs claimed to have been incurred or anticipated to be incurred in performing this contract. The Contractor shall make available at its office at all reasonable times these records and other evidence for examination, audit or reproduction until 3 years after final payment under this contract. This right of audit shall also apply to any subcontracts at the discretion of the Contracting Officer.

I.28 CONTRACT CLOSEOUT (Clause #G-110, Feb 1997)

It is the Mint's intention to close out contracts as soon as possible after completion of all deliverables and expiration of any warranty period. Accordingly, upon completion of the contract, the contractor shall sign a release (Mint Form 7510/7511) discharging the Government, its officers, agents, and employees of and from all liabilities, obligations, and claims arising out of or under this contract. Failure to provide, or take exception to, the release within 30 calendar days of final payment shall constitute contractor's release of and from all liabilities, obligations, and claims arising out of or under this contract.

I. 29 CONTRACTOR ACQUIRED PROPERTY

Title to all property acquired by a Contractor under a Cost-Reimbursement, Time-and-Material, or Labor-Hour Contract for which the Contractor shall seek reimbursement from the Mint shall pass to and vest in the Mint and become Mint furnished property ("MFP") upon reimbursement of the cost of the property by the Mint. Such property shall be subject to the provisions in Mint Furnished Property, I-050. MFP shall be used only for performance under this contract, unless otherwise expressly provided in this contract or approved in writing by the Contracting Officer. The Contractor shall be responsible and accountable for all MFP and shall assume all risks of loss, or damage whatever the cause, reasonable wear and tear excepted. The Contractor shall maintain a program for the use, maintenance, repair, protection, and preservation of MFP in accordance with sound business practice. At any time, the Mint shall have access to the premises in which any MFP is located for the purpose of inspecting or repossessing the Mint property.

I. 30 MINT-FURNISHED PROPERTY (VAR Clause #I-050, Aug 2000)

The Mint shall furnish the Contractor the following Mint-furnished property (MFP) for use under this contract: (If applicable, MFP will be identified in individual task orders)

The Mint will provide, at no cost to the Contractor, when required and authorized by the Task Order:

- Workspace and furnishings at the Mint site.
- Government forms, publications and documents, except those offered for sale to the public.
- Access to computers, terminals, common-use software, data-entry services, communications networks, and other resources owned or leased and operated by the Mint.
- Equipment and software appropriate for the completion of the tasks listed herein.
- Documentation: Access to manuals and materials necessary to perform this task.
- Space and Material: Workspace and material shall be furnished to the contractor and his/her employees and representatives who are dedicated fully to the fulfillment of this task. This space and material shall be assigned at the discretion of the Mint and shall be used in accordance with the contract terms and conditions.
- Technical Assistance: A qualified employee from the user program area shall be available to provide technical assistance and advice between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

The relationship between the Mint and the Contractor, with respect to MFP, is one of bailment and not consignment, and notwithstanding any other term of this contract, title to MFP shall at all times remain with the Mint. Where legally available and appropriate the contractor shall create a UCC security interest in order to place the Mint in a most advantageous creditor position above the bailee's lenders. At any time the Mint may repossess its property without advance notice.

The Contractor shall use MFP only in connection with this contract and products produced hereunder, assume the risk for loss or damage, and return the MFP to the Mint in the same condition, excluding normal wear and tear, as received. Upon completion of use of the MFP, the Contractor shall request instruction for disposition from the COTR.

Reimbursable Supplies, Equipment, Services and Facilities

If the Mint determines that it is unable to furnish supplies, equipment, services or facilities that would otherwise be provided to the Contractor at no cost, the contractor shall be authorized by the Contracting Officer to obtain the necessary resources.

I.31 NON-COMPETITION AGREEMENTS

The Contractor shall not include in its subcontracts any clause or other language which ~~would restrict such subcontractor from doing business directly or indirectly with the Mint~~ nor shall the Contractor assign personnel to work on this contract that are subject to non-compete agreements relating to work performed on this contract.

I. 32 INTERRELATIONSHIPS OF CONTRACTORS (VAR Clause #I-098, Aug 2001)

The Mint may enter into other related contracts separate from the work to be performed under this contract, yet having links and interfaces to this contract. The Contractor may be required to coordinate with other such contractor(s) through the cognizant CO and/or designated representative in providing suitable, non-conflicting technical and/or management interfaces and in avoidance of duplication of effort. Information on deliverables provided under related contracts may, at the discretion of the Mint, be provided to various contractor(s) for coordination purposes, provided appropriate Non-Disclosure Agreements are in place. Any service level commitments not achieved by the Contractor that are caused by any action or inaction of any such other contractor shall not be considered in calculating Cost of Quality points under any task orders issued under this Contract.
