

“Your new home page with government information is very nice. It will make finding what I need a lot easier and quicker. Thank you!”

—USA.gov visitor

Quick Facts

- ▶ USA.gov is Government Made Easy. Join the millions of visitors who use it each year.
- ▶ USA.gov provides free online access to federal, state, local, territorial, and tribal government.
- ▶ USA.gov helps you participate in government, engage in dialogs, enter challenges and contests to help improve government, and track government performance through the USA.gov collection of dashboards.
- ▶ Find information just for you – whether you’re a kid, parent, teen, senior citizen, veteran, Native American, researcher, teacher, government employee, American abroad, Spanish-speaker, or visitor to the U.S.
- ▶ Watch incredible government videos on the U.S. government YouTube channel. View undersea or arctic explorations, space flights, or descriptions of exciting government jobs.
- ▶ Connect with USA.gov and share helpful government information through Facebook, Twitter, or Flickr.
- ▶ Call 1 (800) FED INFO to get answers to your government questions. E-mail questions and comments in English or Spanish and receive a response within two business days – or chat online with a live USA.gov assistant.
- ▶ Search across government for news, images, recalls, and other information with the high-powered USA.gov search engine.
- ▶ Get answers to thousands of Frequently Asked Questions about the government on USA.gov – from information on grants and loans, to renewing your passport, to buying a house.
- ▶ Subscribe to free e-mail updates or RSS alerts to keep on top of government news and information. Have government news delivered directly to your cell phone or mobile device through the Government Notifications Dashboard.
- ▶ Get government information on the go – find the most useful government mobile sites and applications in the Government Apps Gallery.

Some things you can do on USA.gov

- > Find government grants and loans
- > Apply for a government job
- > See if the government owes you money
- > Renew your passport
- > Locate a federal agency
- > Contact your elected officials
- > E-file your taxes
- > Get student aid
- > Download mobile applications
- > Participate in a government dialog
- > Enter a government challenge
- > Track government performance
- > Read today’s government news
- > Renew your driver’s license
- > Get Social Security and Medicare
- > Register to vote
- > Get help buying a car or house
- > Protect yourself from identity theft
- > Travel safety
- > Check your lottery number
- > Find help with homework
- > Learn about financial planning
- > Volunteer in your community
- > Comment on the USA.gov blog

And hundreds more...

USA.gov is managed by the U.S. General Services Administration’s Office of Citizen Services and Innovative Technologies. You can get information about government programs, benefits and services, in both English and Spanish on USA.gov, via e-mail, live chat, print publications, and by calling 1 (800) FED INFO (333-4636). You can also follow USA.gov on Twitter, Facebook, YouTube, and Flickr.