2010 Blue Ribbon Schools Program Introduction

A Recognition Program for American Schools

The Blue Ribbon Schools Program honors public and private elementary, middle, and high schools that are either academically superior or that demonstrate dramatic gains in student achievement to high levels. Since 1982, the U.S. Department of Education's Blue Ribbon Schools Program has honored many of America's most successful schools. A Blue Ribbon Schools flag waving overhead has become a trademark of excellence, a symbol of quality recognized by everyone from parents to policy-makers in thousands of communities.

In 2002, the program was renewed to bring it in line with the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001. This renewed program honors schools whose students achieve at very high levels or make significant progress in closing the achievement gap. The Blue Ribbon Schools Program sets a high standard that should be a goal for all improving schools and schools striving for high levels of achievement. The program recognizes and presents as models both public and private elementary and secondary schools that meet either of two assessment criteria. Please see the next section for more details regarding the eligibility criteria.

- High performing schools: Schools, regardless of their demographics, that are in the top 10 percent of schools in their states as measured by state tests in both reading (English language arts) and mathematics or that score in the top 10 percent on assessments referenced against national norms in at least the highest grade tested in the last year tested.
- Dramatically improved schools: Schools that have at least 40 percent of their students from disadvantaged backgrounds and have dramatically improved student performance to high levels in reading (English language arts) and mathematics on state assessments or assessments referenced against national norms in at least the highest grade tested in the last year tested.

At least one-third of the schools nominated by each state must have at least 40 percent of their students from disadvantaged backgrounds. Public schools must make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) in the current year.

These Blue Ribbon Schools are honored at a ceremony in Washington, DC. The applications from the award-winning schools are posted on the Department's Web site. Summaries from a small group of Blue Ribbon Schools visited each year identify educational practices that have been successful in closing the achievement gap.

Nomination Process for Public Schools

For public schools, the Secretary invites each Chief State School Officer (CSSO), including the Department of Defense Education Activity (DoDEA) and the Bureau of Indian Education (BIE), to nominate those schools that meet the criteria for recognition.

In submitting the list of nominated schools, the CSSO of each state must certify that the nominated schools meet the minimum requirements established by the Department and describe any other criteria used by the state to nominate the schools. States must rely on their state assessment systems to identify schools for submission to the Secretary. The nomination criteria, including assessments, must pertain equally to all schools nominated from the individual state.

Based on state data, the CSSO will certify that the nominated schools meet one of two eligibility criteria:

- 1) High performing schools: Regardless of the school’s percentage of students from disadvantaged backgrounds, the school is high performing. “High performing” means that the achievement of the school’s students in at least the highest grade tested in the most recent year tested places the school in the top 10 percent of schools in the state on state assessments of reading (or English language arts) and mathematics. Disaggregated results for student subgroups, including students from disadvantaged backgrounds, must be similar to the results for all students tested.

- 2) Dramatically improved schools: If at least 40 percent of the school’s students are from disadvantaged backgrounds, a school may qualify if the achievement of its students has dramatically improved to high levels. “Dramatically improved to high levels” is defined by the CSSO of each state but, at a minimum, means: (a) for at least the highest grade tested, the school has demonstrated a positive trend in test results from the earliest to the most recent year tested, and (b) in at least the highest grade tested in the most recent year tested, the achievement of the school’s students places the school in the top 40 percent of schools in the state on state assessments of reading (or English language arts) and mathematics. Disaggregated results for student subgroups, including students from disadvantaged backgrounds, must also show improvement similar to that of all students.

A student from a “disadvantaged background” is defined by the CSSO of each state. The definition must include students who are eligible for free and reduced-price school meals and may include students with disabilities and students who are limited English proficient, migrant, or receiving services under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, as amended by the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001.

At least one-third of the schools nominated by each state must have at least 40 percent of their students from disadvantaged backgrounds in the current school year, whether these schools show dramatic improvement to high levels or are high performing. For example, if a state nominates nine schools, at least three must have at least 40 percent of their students from disadvantaged backgrounds. States may not nominate schools that have failed to make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) within the last two years. Nominated schools must also make AYP in the current year. Test results for each grade tested during the most recent five years must be reported even if the state has revised or changed its assessments during that period. In the rare cases where five years of test results are not available, an explanation should be provided in the application.

Once the Secretary receives the nominations from the CSSO, the Department invites the nominated schools to submit applications for possible recognition as Blue Ribbon Schools.

The Secretary is eager to recognize schools that have shown success in closing the achievement gap. In addition to recognizing schools that have shown dramatic improvement, the Secretary wishes to identify those schools that consistently perform in the top 10 percent on state tests in their grade-level category. Although schools nominated as high performing do not have to meet the 40 percent disadvantaged criterion, the Secretary is very interested in recognizing high performing schools with a high percentage of students from disadvantaged backgrounds.

The sample data table below demonstrates the type of schools the Secretary wishes the CSSO to identify. In Table 1, the reading scores of the Blue Ribbon School (a hypothetical school) show significant improvement in student achievement scores for all student groups on the state criterion-referenced tests over five years.

Nomination Process for Private Schools

For private schools, the Secretary invites the Council for American Private Education (CAPE) to nominate private schools that meet the criteria for recognition. CAPE must ensure and certify that the schools meet the criteria before submitting nominations.

A private school may be recognized as a Blue Ribbon School in two ways.

1. High performing schools: Regardless of the school’s demographics or percentage of students from disadvantaged backgrounds, the school is high performing. “High performing” means that the achievement of the school’s students in at least the highest grade tested in the most recent year tested places the school in the top 10 percent of schools in the nation in reading (English language arts) and mathematics as measured by an assessment referenced against national norms or in the top 10 percent in its state as measured by a state test. If a private school administers both state tests and nationally normed tests, the school must be in the top 10 percent in both. Disaggregated results for student groups, including students from disadvantaged backgrounds, must be similar to the results for all students tested.
2. Dramatically improved schools: These are schools with at least 40 percent of their students from disadvantaged backgrounds that have dramatically improved their performance in reading (English language arts) and mathematics to high levels. “Dramatically improved” is defined as an increase of at least one-half standard deviation over at least five years and includes students from disadvantaged backgrounds as shown by disaggregated data. “High levels” means that the achievement of the school’s students in at least the highest grade tested in the most recent year tested places the school in the top 40 percent of schools in the nation in reading (English language arts) and mathematics as measured by an assessment referenced against national norms or in the top 40 percent in its state as measured by a state test. If a private school administers both state tests and nationally normed tests, the school must be in the top 40 percent in both.

A student from a “disadvantaged background” must include a student who is eligible for free and reduced-price school meals. The definition may include students with disabilities and students who are limited English proficient, migrant, or receiving services under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, as amended by the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001.

Test results for each grade tested during the most recent five years must be reported even if the assessment was revised or changed during that period. In the rare cases where five years of test results are not available, an explanation should be provided in the application. For information on the nomination process and timeline for CAPE, private schools representatives should consult the CAPE Web site at <www.capenet.org/brs.html>.

Public and Private School Eligibility Quotas

Public and private schools, including schools in the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Bureau of Indian Education (BIE), and the Department of Defense Education Activity (DoDEA), with some configuration that includes grades between kindergarten and grade 12 and that meet the eligibility requirements described in this application, are eligible to participate in the program each year. Each state is assigned a number of possible applicants based on the number of K-12 students and the number of schools in the state. The number of possible state applicants ranges from a minimum of 3 schools to a maximum of 35. BIE and DoDEA may nominate one school each. CAPE may nominate 50 private schools. The potential total for all nominations is 413 schools each year. Please see the Department’s Web site for state quotas at <www.ed.gov/programs/nclbbrs/applicant.html>.

Eligible schools, then, are those nominated by the CSSO, BIE, DoDEA, or CAPE that meet the eligibility requirements in Part I - Eligibility Certification, meet the assessment criteria in Part VII – Assessment Results, and have completed the entire application.

Application Process for Nominated Schools

Once the Department receives the nominations from the CSSOs, BIE, DoDEA, and CAPE, the Department extends an invitation to the nominated schools to apply. Using standards of excellence evidenced by student achievement measures and the characteristics known from research to exemplify school quality, the application focuses primarily on results and scientifically based instructional programs.

It is very important that the CSSO, CAPE, BIE, and DoDEA adequately screen nominees to ensure they represent the state or CAPE well and will be excellent models of best practices for the Blue Ribbon Schools Program. The Secretary reserves the right to initiate site visits to some schools to document their excellent practices as well as to verify the accuracy of data.

Summarize significant gains and losses over the five-year period in math and reading (English language arts). What should a reader not intimately familiar with the test scores note about your school’s assessment results? Explain disparities among grade level and subgroup test scores, if any. If the school participates in the state assessment system, briefly explain the state performance levels and the performance level that demonstrates “meeting the standard.” Provide the Web site where information on the state assessment system may be found.
2. Using Assessment Results: Show in approximately 300 words how the school uses assessment data to understand and improve student and school performance. Give examples of how assessment data are used systematically in decision-making processes to improve teaching and learning.
3. Communicating Assessment Results: Describe in approximately 300 words how the school communicates student performance, including assessment data, to parents, students, and the community. Show how the school ensures that students, parents, and the community are actively informed about the results of assessments and understand the meaning and use of the data.
4. Sharing Success: Describe in approximately 300 words how the school has shared and will continue to share its successes with other schools, especially in the event the school is awarded Blue Ribbon School status.

PART VII - ASSESSMENT RESULTS

Public Schools

Each nominated school must show comparable state test results in reading (English language arts) and mathematics for all grades tested for five years. If state assessments have changed during the five-year period, explain this in the Notes section on the Assessment Tables. If five years of data are not available for all grades, explain that in the Notes section as well.

If the state allows the use of the PSAT, PLAN, SAT, or ACT as part of its accountability system and at least 90 percent of the students in the appropriate grades take the tests, schools must report the results. For these tests, schools must use national norms. If fewer than 90 percent of the students take a combination of the tests, that is, the ACT and the SAT or the PLAN and the PSAT, do not report these data. ACT and PLAN results may be reported using one decimal point.

The school must disaggregate all test data for subgroups that constitute more than 10 students per grade. Examples of subgroups include low socioeconomic status (e.g., eligible for free and reduced-price school meals), ethnic/racial groups, limited English proficient students, migrant students, and students with disabilities. Show how all subgroups of students achieved at high levels or improved dramatically in achievement over a five-year period. Do not disaggregate student data by gender. If the number of students assessed in any subgroup is fewer than 10, do not report the test results or the number of students assessed.

For small schools, if the total number of students assessed in a grade is fewer than 10, please report the assessment results, as well as the number of students assessed, for eligibility purposes only. The test results for grades with fewer than 10 students assessed will be deleted from the application prior to posting on the Department's Web site.

The school must specify the number and percentage of students assessed by alternative methods.

Private Schools

Report the school's grade level assessment results in reading (English language arts) and mathematics for the last five years for all grades tested for all state assessments, if administered, and for assessments referenced against national norms administered by the school. If any assessments have changed during the five-year period, explain this in the Notes section on the Assessment Tables. If five years of data are not available for all grades, explain that in the Notes section as well.

If at least 90 percent of the students take the PSAT, PLAN, SAT, or ACT, high schools must report the data. ACT and PLAN results may be reported using one decimal point.

The school must disaggregate data for all students eligible for free and reduced-price school meals and for ethnic/racial groups if a specific group is more than 10 students per grade. The school must disaggregate the data whether or not the school actually offers the free and reduced-price school meals program. Show how all subgroups of students achieved at high levels or improved dramatically in achievement over a five-year period. Do not disaggregate data for students by gender. If the number of students assessed in any subgroup is fewer than 10, do not report the test results or the number of students assessed.

For small schools, if the total number of students assessed in a grade is fewer than 10, please report the assessment results, as well as the number of students assessed, for eligibility purposes only. The test results for grades with fewer than 10 students assessed will be deleted from the application prior to posting on the Department's Web site.

The school must specify the number and percentage of students assessed by alternative methods.

REPORTING REQUIREMENTS FOR STATE CRITERION-REFERENCED TESTS

Applying schools must report the data described in the sample table below for reading/English language arts and mathematics for each grade. Tables for entering this information will be in the online application for each applying school. Provide the past five years of data. If applicable, explain in the Notes section why five years of data are not available. Provide assessment results even if state assessments have changed. Note when the change took place. Explain any alternative assessments. See the sample table on page 4.

Change the table terminology for performance levels to use your state assessment system’s terminology for “Proficient” and “Advanced.”

Report test scores for the percentage of students who are “proficient” or “advanced,” i.e., the percentage of proficient plus the percentage of advanced, according to state standards. Substitute the appropriate state terminology for proficient and advanced in the table. There is no need to report the percentage of students not meeting state standards.

REPORTING REQUIREMENTS FOR ASSESSMENTS REFERENCED AGAINST NATIONAL NORMS

Applying schools must report the data described in the sample table below for reading/English language arts and mathematics for each grade. If applicable, explain in the Notes section why five years of data are not available and any changes in the state assessments. Provide assessment results even if state assessments have changed.
