System of Integrated Activities to Prevent HIV Infection and Other Serious Health Problems Among Students, Especially Postsecondary Students*Introduction

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) announces the availability of fiscal year (FY) 1995 funds for cooperative agreements to establish a national system of integrated activities for preventing HIV infection and other serious health problems among the nation's students, especially postsecondary students and those in high-risk situations.

Applicants may apply for funding to carry out activities in one or more of the following priority areas:

Priority One—Educate Policy and Decision-Makers

To educate and encourage policy and decision-making members of postsecondary institutions to support programs to prevent HIV infection among students, especially postsecondary students and those in
high-risk situations.

Priority Two—Support Institution-Wide Health Promotion Programs

To build the capacity of postsecondary institutions to implement comprehensive integrated strategies designed to prevent HIV infection as part of institution-wide health promotion and disease prevention programs for postsecondary students, especially those in high-risk situations.

Priority Three—Support Preservice Education

To provide technical assistance and training to personnel in postsecondary institutions about the skills that health, education, social service, and other professionals need in order to help young people, including students in grades K-12 and those in high-risk situations, avoid HIV infection and other serious health problems.

The Public Health Service (PHS) is committed to implementing the recommendations outlined in the External Review of HIV Prevention Strategies, and the health promotion and disease prevention objectives of Healthy People 2000, a PHS-led national activity to reduce morbidity and mortality and improve the quality of life. This program announcement is related to the priority areas of HIV
