The authority of Congress and its committees to make investigations and inquiries is to be found in the Constitution in the powers granted to Congress to legislate.

The Senate itself could investigate or hear witnesses as it has on rare occasions when witnesses were subpoenaed to appear at the bar of the Senate. Since this procedure is too cumbersome and would be too time consuming for the Senate as a body to perform this activity, it authorizes investigations and inquiries to be done by its committees.

All of the standing committees of the Senate and any subcommittees thereof are authorized to hold hearings and make investigations essential to develop the necessary information to legislate. Coupled with that authority, committees may "require by subpoena or otherwise the attendance of such witnesses and the production of such correspondence, books, papers, and documents . . ." as they deem advisable. They are granted funds for such purposes and allowed staffs to aid in such undertakings.

From time to time the Senate creates a special or select committee to make investigations and inquiries. Such committees are usually given the same powers and authority as the standing committees to make investigations and inquiries together with necessary expenditures.

Expenses for all such committees are generally paid from the contingent fund of the Senate upon vouchers approved by the chairmen.

If a committee of the Senate makes an investigation or an inquiry and does not have the authority to report legislation thereon, or if in some cases a standing committee fails to report legislation thereon, it files a report of recommendation to the Senate as to whether legislation on this subject should or should not be enacted.

Rule XXV, Paragraph 1(n)(1)8

[Committee on Rules and Administration Has Jurisdiction Over Contingent Fund Expenditures]

Committee on Rules and Administration, to which committee shall be referred all proposed legislation, messages, petitions, memorials, and other matters relating to the following subjects:

8. Payment of money out of the contingent fund of the Senate or creating a charge upon the same (except that any resolution relating to substantive matter within the jurisdiction of any other standing committee of the Senate shall be first referred to such committee).

Rule XIV, Paragraph 6

[Resolutions Lie Over One Day for Consideration]

All other resolutions shall lie over one day for consideration, if not referred, unless by unanimous consent the Senate shall otherwise direct. When objection is heard to the immediate consideration of a resolution or motion when it is submitted, it shall be placed on the Calendar under the heading of "Resolutions and Motions over, under the Rule," to be laid before the Senate on the next legislative day when there is no further morning business but before the close of morning business and before the termination of the morning hour.

SEC. 68-5. Purchase, lease, exchange, maintenance, and operation of vehicles out of account for Sergeant at Arms and Doorkeeper of the Senate within contingent fund of Senate; authorization of appropriations.

For each fiscal year (commencing with the fiscal year ending September 30, 1985) there is authorized to be appropriated to the account, within the contingent fund of the Senate, for the Sergeant at Arms and Doorkeeper of the Senate, such funds (which shall be in addition to funds authorized to be so appropriated for other purposes) as may be necessary for the purchase, lease, exchange, maintenance, and operation of vehicles as follows: one for the Vice President, one for the President pro tempore of the Senate, one for the Majority Leader of the Senate, one for the Minority Leader of the Senate, one for the Majority Whip of the Senate, one for the Minority Whip of the

This section shall not apply with respect to per diem or actual travel expenses incurred by Senators and employees in the office of a Senator which are reimbursed under section 58 of this title.

SEC. 68c. Computation of compensation for stenographic assistance of committees payable from Senate contingent fund.

Compensation for stenographic assistance of committees paid out of the items under "Contingent Expenses of the Senate" on and after June 27, 1956, shall be computed at such rates and in accordance with such regulations as may be computed at such rates and in accordance with such regulations as may be prescribed by the Committee on Rules and Administration, notwithstanding, and without regard to any other provision of law.

SEC. 68d. Liquidation from appropriations of any unpaid obligations chargeable to rescinded unexpended balances of funds

If at the close of any fiscal year there is an unexpended balance of funds which were appropriated for such year (or for prior fiscal years) and which are subject to disbursement by the Secretary of the Senate for any purpose, then, if such unexpended balance is by law rescinded, any unpaid obligations chargeable to the balance so rescinded (or to appropriations for such purpose for prior years) shall be liquidated from any appropriations for the same general purpose, which, at the time of payment, are available for disbursement.

Payments for Expenses of Committees

(Title 2 U.S.C. Sec. 69)

[Reports by Chairman on Expenditures From Contingent Fund]

When any duty is imposed upon a committee involving expenses that are ordered to be paid out of the contingent fund of the Senate, upon vouchers to be approved by the chairman of the committee charged with such duty, the receipt of such chairman for any sum advanced to him or his order out of said contingent fund by the Secretary of the Senate for committee expenses not involving personal services shall be taken and passed by the accounting officers of the Government as a full and sufficient voucher; but it shall be the duty of such chairman, as soon as practicable, to furnish to the Secretary of the Senate vouchers in detail for the expenses so incurred.

Adoption of Resolution—Reference to Committee Waived by Unanimous Consent:

A resolution providing for the payment of money out of the contingent fund of the Senate should be referred to the Committee on Rules and Administration but the adoption of the resolution by unanimous consent, however, would operate as a waiving of the rule.¹

Amendments to Expenditure Resolutions:

A resolution providing for the payment of money out of the contingent fund of the Senate is not subject to amendment prior to its reference to the Committee on Rules and Administration but may be amended after it has been reported back from that committee.²

Consideration of Resolution on Investigation or Expenditures:

An objection to the consideration of a resolution providing for a special committee of investigation or providing for the expenditure of money from the contingent fund when submitted carries the resolution over under the rule.³

Under a unanimous consent agreement providing for a final vote on a bill and that in the meantime such bill should not be laid aside except for privileged matters, a Senate resolution providing for an investigation can only be taken up by unanimous consent.⁴

Extension of Time To File Report on an Investigation:

A motion for an extension of time in which a committee was required to submit a report is in the nature of a resolution and upon objection must lie over 1 day.⁵ It is not in order in such a case to move to amend the original resolution so as to extend the time for such report, as that could be done only by reconsidering the vote by which the resolution was adopted.⁶

Recommitments of Resolutions on Investigations:

See also "Recommit," pp. 1106-1123.

When a committee, pursuant to a Senate resolution, submitted a report of an investigation upon which no action was required to be taken by the Senate, it is not in order to recommit such report to the committee with instructions.⁷

Reconsideration of Resolutions on Investigations:

When a motion has been made to reconsider the vote on a resolution directing a government agency to make an investigation, a motion requesting the return of such resolution is not required under the rules;⁸ the Senate may determine whether it will first order the papers returned or vote on the motion to reconsider.⁹

Reference to Two Committees—Substantive and Committee on Rules:

A resolution involving expenditures from the contingent fund of the Senate must first be referred to the committee "having charge of substantive matters of that nature" or having jurisdiction of the subject matter,¹⁰ and then, under the law and rules of the Senate, it must be referred to the Committee on Rules and Administration (previously the Committee To Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate).¹¹

Such a resolution reported by a substantive committee, providing for the payment of money out of the contingent fund of the Senate, must be referred to the Committee on Rules and Administration (previously the Committee To Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate) before the Senate considers it unless unanimous consent is given to the contrary.¹²

Such a resolution when reported from a substantive committee, must on objection, under the rule, lie over a day before reference to the Committee on Rules and Administration.¹³ It is not in order to consider a resolution of investigation prior to the submission thereof together with a budget estimate to the Committee on Rules and

In 1913, Vice President Marshall ruled that a resolution providing for the appointment of a special committee of investigation with authority to hold hearings and subpoena witnesses, but without provision for expenditures, had to be referred to the Committee to Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate—now the Committee on Rules and Administration (May 27, 1913, 63-1, pp. 1753-59); see also July 3, 1935, 74-1, Journal, p. 499, Record, p. 10689; Apr. 3, 1933, 73-1, Record, p. 1101; Feb. 6, 1930, 71-2, Record, p. 3165; Dec. 19, 1927, 70-1, Record, p. 816; Sept. 6, 1913, 63-1, Record, p. 4331.

Administration, after the committee having jurisdiction of that subject matter has reported it.¹⁴

Such a resolution reported from a substantive committee may be referred on the same day by unanimous consent to the Committee on Rules and Administration, instead of lying over 1 day under the rule.¹⁵

Under the practice of the Senate, the Committee on Rules and Administration (previously the Committee To Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate) does not pass upon the merits of a resolution of inquiry, but merely upon the expenditure of funds.¹⁶

In 1926, in one instance, after the Senate by unanimous consent had agreed to a resolution authorizing a payment from the contingent fund, a point of order that the resolution should first go to the Committee To Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate (now Rules and Administration) was sustained, and the resolution was so referred.¹⁷

In 1934, the Chair ruled a resolution providing for an investigation of a Federal Land Bank is not subject to amendment by including another bank, if an additional expense is thereby included;¹⁸ otherwise, the resolution would be subject to amendment as in the case of any other resolution.¹⁹

On August 3, 1939, the adoption of a resolution providing for an investigation and the payment of expenses from the contingent fund of the Senate, which had not been considered by the Committee To Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate (now the Committee on Rules and Administration), was reconsidered and by unanimous consent it was then ordered that the resolution be referred to the committee and that it be unanimously reported therefrom, and it was again adopted.²⁰
