New Features in the Updated List:

1. In order to make this Finding Aid as useful as possible, names of towns have been standardized according to their spelling in the online Catalog at the Library of Congress. But because so many towns have alternate-sounding names or spellings using different systems of transliteration, many of these alternate spellings and names have been given either in parentheses (if they are fairly close to the standard Library of Congress spelling), or in a separate entry altogether (if the alternative names or spellings are very different, as in the two examples below).

For example:

Krzemienic	See: Kremenits
Krzemienica	See: Volkovysk

2. In addition to adding over three hundred new books to the list, there are now also several hundred new entries linking smaller villages and towns with specific Yizkor books.

For example:

There seems to be no specific Yizkor book for the town of Krasnopole (in Poland). But someone searching for information on this town will now find a referral to the Yizkor book in which this town is discussed:

Krasnopole	See: Suwalki 1961
