HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

§36.18

preme Court in the case of Knox v. United States, 92-1183, has failed to support the conviction of a child pornographer won by the Department in the United States District Court for the Middle District of Pennsylvania and affirmed on appeal in the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit;

(7) the Department of Justice has used its brief in the Knox case as a vehicle for reinterpretation of the Federal child pornography laws in contravention to legislative history and past prosecution practices of the Department of Justice;

(8) the Department of Justice by declaring in its brief in the Knox case that a pornographer who lasciviously exhibits the genitals of children is prosecutable within the Federal child pornography laws only if the de-pictions show a minor engaged in the conduct of lasciviously exhibiting his or her genitals or public area, creates a federally protected class of child pornography, e.g. child pornography involving children who are not knowingly engaged in lasciviously exhibiting their genitals or pubic areas but whose genitals or pubic areas are nonetheless lasciviously depicted by others;

(9) the Department of Justice by declaring in its brief in the Knox case in contravention to legislative history, that a pornographer who lasciviously exhibits the genital or pubic area of children is prosecutable within the Federal child pornography laws only if the genitals are nude or visible creates a federally protected class of child pornography, e.g. depictions which focus on a minor child's clothed genital or pubic area with the obvious intent of eliciting a sexual response in pedophiles;

(10) the plain meaning and congressional intent of the language in section 2256 of title 18, United States Code, is that the term "lascivious exhibition'' refers to whether the depiction is intended to elicit a sexual response from the viewer, and not to the actions of the child:

(11) the Department of Justice has employed this meaning of the term "lascivious exhibition" since it was included in the laws in 1984, and Congress has not changed the meaning of the term;

(12) Congress specifically repudiated a ''nuditv'' requirement for child pornography statutes (see United States v. Knox, 977 F. 2d 815, at 820-823, (3rd Cir., 1992));

(13) the "harm Congress attempted to eradicate by enacting child pornography laws is present when a photographer unnaturally focuses on a minor child's clothed genital area with the obvious intent to produce an image sexually arousing to pedophiles. (see Knox at 822); and

(14) the Congress of the United States believes that the reinterpretation of the Federal child pornography laws by Department of Justice, unless reversed, will bring back commercial child pornography and lead to a substantial increase of sexual exploitation of children.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.-It is the sense of the House of Representatives that the Department of Justice repudiate its reinterpretation of Federal child pornography laws, defend the conviction won in lower courts in the Knox case, and vigorously prosecute sexexploitation of children
