INTERNATIONAL SPACE UNIVERSITY (ISU) SPACE ODYSSEY INSTITUTE (SOI)

This 12-day short course is designed to meet the needs of experienced professionals from mid-level to senior leadership positions in the international aerospace community. The multidisciplinary course is balanced between classroom lectures, insightful workshops and pertinent professional visits. Interaction amongst the international participants during the session, as well as with the expert lecturers, offers the distinctive ISU blend of an international, interdisciplinary, and intercultural experience.

Who Should Attend

This course is open to those from middle management to senior executive positions, who have advanced university degrees, or a minimum of five years experience in aerospace or related areas. Open also to ISU alumni from the Space Studies Program (SSP) or Master Programs as well as all graduates with equivalent diplomas from ISU's affiliated campuses.

Program Highlights

This SOI offering has Project Management as its principal theme while expanding on areas like Human Resources and Financing of Space Projects. The theories and real-world application and assessments are introduced to the participants in an interactive manner, drawing from experiences and methodologies from a multinational background. In addition, the idiosyncrasies of commercial and space agency-led projects are discussed while analyzing the lessons learned.

Offerings: One 12-day session, annually

2012 session will be held in Colorado Springs, CO

Contact: Geraldine Moser Telephone: +33 3 88 65 54 49

Dean's Office

International Space University

Parc d'Innovation, 1 rue Jean-Dominique Cassini

67400 Illkirch-Graffenstaden, France

Fax: +33 3 88 65 54 47 E-mail: soi_info@isunet.edu

Web site: www.isunet.edu, select "Professional Programs", then "Space

Odyssey Institute"

DC Area Contact: Steven Brody Telephone: 1-202-997-4910

Vice President, No. American Operations

International Space University

Program Dates: February 20 - March 2, 2012; Optional exam on March 3rd; successful completion allows credit towards ISU's Executive MBA degree.

Cost: $7,500; $1,500 deposit required upon registration.

Includes: tuition, lecture material, lunches and several receptions.

Application Deadline: November 30, 2011