ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Food and Nutrition Service (FNS), and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services' Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) wish to thank the schools, school districts, and individuals that shared their success stories about how they made positive changes in their school nutrition environments. They have set an example for all schools to follow.

FNS and CDC also acknowledge and thank the many individuals from organizations and institutions who shared their expertise and assisted in the development of Making It Happen! The following persons participated in an advisory panel that reviewed this document as it was developed and helped make it a useful resource for those at the local level.
