Course: E313 Basic HAZUS for Multi-Hazards

Dates: October 11-14, 2010

Course Description:

This course provides participants with an understanding of the multi-hazards application of HAZUS-MH toward mitigation, response, recovery, and risk management for earthquake, flood, and hurricane hazards.

Course Goal:

1. The course focuses on a Level 1 analysis, which makes it possible to perform a complete hazard analysis with minimal to no additional input of data beyond what is installed with the application.
2. The course prepares participants who are interested in integrating their own data into the HAZUS-MH analysis process with the foundation of skills necessary to successfully complete the advanced HAZUS-MH courses.
3. The Flood model allows users to determine flood depths, estimate damages and losses, and define floods of varying magnitudes.
4. The Earthquake model uses mathematical formulas and information about building stock, local geology, and the location and size of potential earthquakes, economic data, and other information to estimate losses from a potential earthquake.
5. The Hurricane model provides the means by which to assess the losses that might be experienced from a hurricane.
