ITEM 3

If different from the servicing unit (item 2), include the location (address) where the unit's customer records are being maintained.

ITEM 4

If different from either of the above locations, include the location (address) where bookkeeping is performed.

ITEM 5

What to Omit from This Item

- Assets of strictly custodial accounts.
- Liabilities of accounts which are included in the report (show only gross assets, not net assets).
- Market value on Item f (show only number of accounts).

What to Report

- Market Value. Current market value data in U.S. dollars as of year-end should be utilized, where possible. Where market values are not readily available, the last available market value (if within the last 90 days) may be reported. Book values (cost or inventory) may be reported for such assets as real estate mortgages, real estate or other miscellaneous assets where market values are not readily ascertainable. In such cases, a footnote as to the method of reporting is necessary along with the amount of total assets so reported.
- Rounding of Dollar Amounts. Dollar figures in this schedule should be rounded to the nearest thousand with the 000's omitted. Numbers of accounts should not be rounded.
- Managed Assets. The number of accounts for each type of business should be listed. If an individual account contains both managed and non-managed portions, include the account (for number purposes) under the managed caption with the market value of assets segregated under their appropriate captions. For the purpose of this schedule, the term "managed" includes assets of accounts for which the unit (a) is authorized to determine which securities or other properties should be purchased, sold, or retained; or (b) makes recommendations as to what securities or other properties should be purchased, sold, or retained even though some other person(s) or organization may have the responsibility for final investment and retention decisions.
- Non-Managed Assets. The number of accounts is described above. For the purpose of this schedule, the term "non-managed" includes assets of accounts which do not come within the definition of "managed" assets. Included should be trust, agency, estate or similar accounts in which the fiduciary neither advises nor exercised any degree of discretion in making investments or handling administrative services. However, strictly custodial accounts should be omitted.

Fiduciary Business Definitions

- Item a. Estates. Includes executor, administrator, guardian, or similar capacities as they may be known in the country where the services are provided.
- Item b. Personal/EBT Trusts. Includes testamentary, inter vivos, employee benefit and other trust appointments.
- Item c. Investment Agencies. Includes any agency account where investment activity is performed, such as managing agency accounts, investment advisory accounts, escrows and other similar agency accounts regardless of whether the principal is an individual or a corporation.
- Item d. Corporate Trusts. Include corporate trusteeships, debt servicing arrangements with corporate entities and similar services.
- Item e. Private Holding Companies. Includes private investment companies (PIC) and private trading companies (PTC) where the reporting entity has either passive or active duties. If the account holds both managed and non-managed assets, these assets should be shown separately in the report on that basis, but should be counted as only one account.
- Item f. Registered Company Accounts. These include accounts for which the reporting entity serves as organizer and/or provides active managerial/administrative services relative to company operations.
- Item g. Other Accounts. This category should include those accounts and assets not reported under any other category. Specifically identify the capacities of these accounts.

ITEM 6

Collective Investment Funds. For the purpose of this report, collective investment funds are defined as any commingled or collective investment fund administered by the unit and for which the unit serves as investment advisor. These would include open/closed-end mutual funds, commingled investments in real estate, equities, fixed income securities, PICs or other assets or their equivalent. Identify each by name and a brief description.
