enemy may launch one or more strong local attacks prior to the completion of armistice negotiations. The advantages of local successes would be the seizure of important terrain objectives and the improvement of troop morale. The high ground south of the Pyonggang-Kumhwa-Chorwon triangle is of sufficient importance to warrant a limited attack.

Comment: The "Iron Triangle," with its important road net and forward supply positions, was utilized by the Communists as a base of operations in the spring offensives. Recent eastward displacement of Chinese Communist forces and the relief of front line units in the central sector have put a concentration of fresh troops in position to undertake such a limited attack.
