13	SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION,	Case No.	5395
14	Plaintiff,
15	VS.	COMPLAINT
16	BENJAMIN SILVA, III,
17	Defendant.
18
19	Plaintiff Securities and Exchange Commission (the "Commission") alleges:
20	SUMMARY OF THE ACTION
21	This matter involves a financial reporting f	raud at Tvia. Inc. ("	Evia" or "the Company"

- 1. This matter involves a financial reporting fraud at Tvia, Inc. ("Tvia" or "the Company"), a Silicon Valley semiconductor company. From at least September 2005 through June 2006, Benjamin Silva, III ("Silva" or "Defendant"), then Tvia's Vice President of Worldwide Sales, caused the Company to falsely report millions of dollars in revenue on sales through the use of side agreements in which Silva typically promised the customer extended payment terms and obligated Tvia to find a buyer for any product that the customer was unable to sell.
- 2. Silva knew or was reckless in not knowing that these side agreements made it improper 28 for Tvia to recognize revenue on the sales, either under the Company's revenue recognition policy or in accordance with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles ("GAAP"). Thus, in order to carry out his fraud, Silva concealed the side agreements from Tvia's Chief Executive Officer ("CEO"), its Chief Financial Officer ("CFO"), and the Company's auditors.

- 3. Silva also caused Tvia to misapply approximately $300,000 in payments from new customers to pay down other customers' past due accounts, in order to satisfy collection concerns raised by Tvia's auditors and avoid the reversal of previously-recognized revenue.
- 4. Silva's fraud caused Tvia to materially overstate its revenue for multiple reporting periods, including for its second quarter of fiscal 2006 (ended September 30, 2005), its third quarter of fiscal 2006 (ended December 31, 2005), its 2006 year-end results (March 31, 2006), and its first quarter of fiscal 2007 (ended June 30, 2006). Before Silva's fraud was discovered, Silva exercised and sold all of his vested Tvia options, netting over $300,000.
- 5. By engaging in the acts alleged in this Complaint, Silva, among other things, violated the antifraud provisions of the federal securities laws, made or caused to be made materially false or misleading statements to Tvia's auditors, falsified Tvia's books and records, and caused Tvia to falsely report its financial results. The Commission seeks an order enjoining Silva from future violations of the securities laws, requiring him to disgorge his ill-gotten gains with prejudgment interest and pay civil monetary penalties, barring him from serving as an officer or director of a public company, and providing other appropriate relief.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

- 6. The Commission brings this action pursuant to Sections 20(b) and 20(d) of the Securities Act of 1933 ("Securities Act") [15 U.S.C. §§ 77t(b) and 77t(d)] and Sections 21(d) and 21(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act") [15 U.S.C. §§ 78u(d) and 78u(e)].
- 7. This Court has jurisdiction over this action pursuant to Sections 20(c) and 22(a) of the Securities Act [15 U.S.C. §§ 77t(c) and 77v(a)] and Section 27 of the Exchange Act [15 U.S.C. § 78aa]. The defendant, directly or indirectly, has made use of the means and instrumentalities of interstate commerce, of the mails, or of the facilities of a national securities exchange in connection with the acts, practices and courses of business alleged in this complaint.
 - 8. Venue is proper in this District pursuant to Section 22 of the Securities Act [15 U.S.C. §

INTRADISTRICT ASSIGNMENT

9. Assignment to the San Jose Division is appropriate pursuant to Civil Local Rules 3-2(c) and 3-2(d) because acts and omissions giving rise to the Commission's claims occurred, among other places in this district, in Santa Clara County.

DEFENDANT

10. Benjamin Silva, III, age 48, resides in Fremont, California. From September 2004 through January 2007, Silva was Tvia's Vice President of Worldwide Sales. From approximately September 2001 to September 2004, Silva was head of Worldwide Sales for another public company.

RELEVANT ENTITY

11. Tvia is a semiconductor company based in Santa Clara, California. During the time period of the fraud alleged in this Complaint, Tvia's common stock traded on the NASDAQ Global Market ("NASDAQ") under the symbol "TVIA," and the Company was registered with the Commission pursuant to Section 12(g) of the Exchange Act. Tvia's fiscal year-end is March 31. On January 30, 2007, Tvia issued a press release indicating that the market should not rely on any financial statements, earnings press releases, and similar communications issued by Tvia for its 2006 and 2007 fiscal years. On July 12, 2007, NASDAQ delisted the Company's securities due to lack of compliance with listing requirements. On October 15, 2008, Tvia filed a voluntary petition for reorganization under Chapter 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

Background

- 12. Tvia designs and develops digital display processors for use in LCD and other high-definition TVs. Tvia sells its products into multiple channels, including to original equipment manufacturers, distributors, and end-users. For Tvia's 2005 fiscal year ended March 31, 2005, before the conduct at issue, the Company posted $3.3 million in revenue.
 - 13. At all relevant times it was improper under GAAP and Tvia's revenue recognition policy for Tvia to recognize revenue on transactions in which Tvia promised to accept the return of product in the event a customer did not want the product. In addition, it was improper under GAAP and Tvia's revenue recognition policy for Tvia to recognize revenue on transactions in which the Company agreed to provide substantial ongoing and future services as a condition of a sale. Finally, under Tvia's revenue recognition policy it was improper for the Company to recognize revenue on transactions that included extended payment terms over 90 days without CEO approval.

Silva Had a Financial Motive to Commit Fraud

- 14. When Silva joined Tvia in September 2004, he received options on 250,000 shares of Tvia stock, with one quarter of the options vesting after one year and the remainder vesting monthly thereafter for the next three years. In May 2005, Silva received additional options grants. Silva received a 50,000 share options grant, again with one quarter of the options vesting after one year and the remainder vesting monthly thereafter for the next three years. Silva also received a 70,000 share performance-based options grant, which vested only if the Company achieved $5 million in revenue in a fiscal quarter by June 30, 2006.
- 15. As Tvia's Vice President of Worldwide Sales, Silva had three primary sales representatives, one for each of Tvia's geographic regions: China/Taiwan, Japan/Korea, and Europe/North America. However, Silva was intimately involved in sales negotiations in each region.
- 16. On multiple occasions, Silva expressed his desire to generate great wealth for himself and his sales team through Tvia. For example, on November 13, 2005, Silva wrote to his sales team:

We cannot afford to have an ego, we cannot afford to let pride keep us from driving this stock to $5 then to $10. We are in this to win and win big. I will stop at nothing to gaurantee [sic] that this one goes all the way. We have not missed a number and we will not miss a number. I will make you a lot of money and successful whether you want it or not. ... PREPARE TO BE RICH....NO MATTER WHAT.

17. Silva also recognized that missing Tvia's quarterly revenue projections could cause the Company's share price to drop. In a November 23, 2005 e-mail to his sales team, after informing them that Tvia had recently attracted its first stock analyst (who was projecting $2.2 million in quarterly revenue), Silva noted that "if we come in less, our stock will suffer."

Silva Used Side Agreements to Improperly Boost Tvia's Reported Revenue

- 18. Silva began entering into side agreements with Tvia's customers at least as early as September 2005. Typically, these side agreements promised the customer extended payment terms and obligated Tvia to find a buyer for any product that the customer was unable to sell.
- 19. Based on his experience in sales, both at Tvia and in his prior employment, Silva knew or was reckless in not knowing that such side agreements would make it improper for Tvia to recognize revenue on a sale. Thus, in order to carry out his fraud, Silva concealed the side agreements from Tvia's CEO, its CFO, and the Company's auditors.
- 20. For example, once, when asked by Tvia's CFO whether he was entering into side agreements with customers, Silva replied that "There are no side deals ..., and you should not even say that."
- 21. Silva also hid his side agreements from the Company's auditors. Tvia's auditors met Silva at the end of each quarter to discuss each and every outstanding receivable in great detail. During these meetings, which would often last hours, the auditors tried to determine why customers were not paying as expected, and yet Silva never disclosed his side agreements extending payment terms and obligating Tvia to find new buyers for any product that the customers could not sell.
- 22. As alleged below, Silva entered into one or more side agreements in each quarter from the second quarter of Tvia's 2006 fiscal year through the first quarter of its 2007 fiscal year. Silva caused Tvia to recognize revenue which it should not have ranging from approximately $220,000 to $3.16 million per quarter, overstating its quarterly revenue by as much as 164.8%.

Tvia's Second Quarter of Fiscal 2006 (Ended 9/30/2005)

23. On or about September 22, 2005, Tvia received a written purchase order for $220,000 from MicroNetwork Korea ("MNK"), a customer based in South Korea. According to the purchase order, MNK promised to pay Tvia in full on or before December 31, 2005. Based on MNK's purchase order and other information available to Tvia's finance department, the Company recognized $220,000 in revenue on this sale for the second quarter of Tvia's 2006 fiscal year, which ended September 30, 2005.

- 24. It was improper for Tvia to recognize revenue on this sale because it was subject to additional terms offered by Silva in a side agreement. The side agreement was documented in a letter from Silva to MNK dated September 20, 2005. In the letter, Silva promised that Tvia would grant MNK extended payment terms in the event that MNK could not obtain financing to pay for the product by December 31, 2005. In addition, in the letter Silva promised that Tvia would "dispose" of the product in the event that MNK was unable to sell it to an end user.
- 25. Silva knowingly concealed the existence of the September 20, 2005 side agreement from Tvia's CEO, CFO, and auditors. As a result of Silva's fraud, Tvia overstated its revenue for the quarter ended September 30, 2005 by $220,000, or approximately 14.3%.

Tvia's Third Quarter of Fiscal 2006 (Ended 12/31/2005)

- 26. During Tvia's fiscal 2006 third quarter, ended December 31, 2005, Silva entered into two side agreements, one with MNK and the other with MJL Technology ("MJL"), another South Korean customer. In total, the side agreements caused Tvia to recognize $335,000 in revenue which it should not have, overstating the Company's revenue for the quarter by approximately 14.1%.
- 27. On or about December 12, 2005, MNK placed a written purchase order with Tvia for $225,000, with payment due in full within 90 days of shipment. Based on MNK's purchase order and other information available to Tvia's finance department, the Company recognized $225,000 in revenue on this sale for the quarter ended December 31, 2005.
- 28. It was improper for Tvia to recognize revenue on this sale to MNK because it was subject to additional terms offered by Silva in a side agreement. The side agreement was documented in a letter from Silva to MNK dated December 12, 2005. In the letter, Silva promised that Tvia would grant MNK nearly six months to pay for the product. Silva knowingly concealed this side agreement from Tvia's CEO, CFO, and auditors.
- 29. On or about December 16, 2005, MJL placed a written purchase order with Tvia for $110,000. According to the order, MJL agreed to pay Tvia in full within 90 days. Based on MJL's purchase order and other information available to Tvia's finance department, the Company recognized $110,000 in revenue on this sale for the quarter ended December 31, 2005.
 - 30. It was improper for Tvia to recognize revenue on this sale because it was subject to additional terms offered by Silva in a side agreement. The side agreement was documented in a letter from Silva to MJL dated December 15, 2005. In the letter, Silva promised that Tvia would grant MJL up to 120 days to pay for the product. Further, Silva promised that, if MJL could not sell the product within 120 days, Tvia would "arrange for MJL to sell the product to a suitable 3rd party" Silva knowingly concealed this side agreement from Tvia's CEO, CFO, and auditors.

Tvia's Fourth Quarter of Fiscal 2006 (Ended 3/31/2006)

- 31. During Tvia's fiscal 2006 fourth quarter, ended March 31, 2006, Silva entered into side agreements with Advent Technology ("Advent"), MNK, Universal Technology ("EUT"), and Sichuan Friend (also known as Hooray Electronics) ("SFD"). In total, Silva's conduct in the fourth quarter led Tvia to recognize approximately $1.6 million in revenue which it should not have, overstating quarterly revenue by 132.3%.
- 32. On or about March 16, 2006, Advent placed a written purchase order with Tvia for $125,000, with payment due in full within 90 days. Based on Advent's purchase order and other information available to Tvia's finance department, Tvia recognized $125,000 in revenue on this sale for the quarter ended March 31, 2006.
- 33. It was improper for Tvia to recognize revenue on this sale because it was subject to additional terms offered by Silva in a side agreement. The side agreement was documented in a letter from Silva to Advent dated March 15, 2006. In the letter, Silva promised that Tvia would grant Advent up to 120 days to pay for the product. Further, Silva promised that in the event Advent could not sell the product within 120 days, Tvia would "arrange for Advent to sell the products to a suitable 3rd party" Silva knowingly concealed this side agreement from Tvia's CEO, CFO, and auditors.
- 34. On or about March 31, 2006, MNK placed a written purchase order with Tvia for $325,000, with payment due in full within 90 days after shipment. Based on MNK's purchase order and other information available to Tvia's finance department, Tvia recognized $325,000 in revenue on this sale for the quarter ended March 31, 2006.
- 35. It was improper for Tvia to recognize revenue on this sale because it was subject to additional terms offered by Silva in a side agreement. The side agreement was documented in an e-mail from Silva to MNK dated March 31, 2006. In the e-mail Silva promised that at the end of the payment term Tvia would take back from MNK all or any portion of the product that MNK did not need. Silva knowingly concealed this side agreement from Tvia's CEO, CFO, and auditors.

36. On or about March 30, 2006, EUT placed two written purchase orders with Tvia for a total of $865,000, with payment due in full within 70 days. Purportedly, some of the product from these orders was for EUT, while some was for two other customers, Nucleus and Sino American Electronics ("SAC"). Based on EUT's purchase orders and other information available to Tvia's finance department, Tvia recognized a total of $865,000 in revenue on these sales for the quarter ended March 31, 2006.

37. It was improper for Tvia to recognize revenue on these sales, for two reasons. First, the sales were subject to additional terms offered by Silva in a side agreement. The side agreement was documented in a letter from Silva to EUT dated March 30, 2006. In the letter, Silva promised that in the event that EUT could not "identify a customer projects [sic] to consume these products within the 70-day period," Tvia would extend the payment period to 90 days and/or "arrange for EUT to ship the unused remaining products to a Tvia-designated customer or distributor." Silva knowingly concealed this side agreement from Tvia's CEO, CFO, and auditors. Second, in or about March 2006, Silva learned that both planned transactions with Nucleus and SAC had fallen through, that neither Nucleus nor SAC wanted the product, and that EUT had only agreed to store the product until Tvia could find another customer. Silva knowingly concealed this information from Tvia's CEO, CFO, and auditors.

- 38. On or about March 30, 2006, SFD placed a written purchase order with Tvia for $257,000. Based on SFD's purchase order and other information available to Tvia's finance department, Tvia recognized $257,000 in revenue on this sale for the quarter ended March 31, 2006.
- 39. It was improper for Tvia to recognize revenue on this sale because it was subject to additional terms offered by Silva in a side agreement. The side agreement was documented in a letter of intent signed by Silva dated April 27, 2006. Silva and his sales team had been negotiating the side agreement with SFD since at least March 21, 2006. In the letter of intent, Silva promised that, in exchange for SFD ordering parts from Tvia, Tvia would perform a number of tasks for which it did not have the technical or logistical ability. Under GAAP, the SFD sale was incomplete because it required future performance by Tvia and therefore revenue from the sale could not be recognized. However, Silva concealed this side agreement from Tvia's CEO, CFO, and auditors, and the full amount of the sale was improperly recognized as revenue in Tvia's fourth quarter of fiscal 2006.

Tvia's First Quarter of Fiscal 2007 (Ended 6/30/2006)

- 40. On or about June 28, 2006, SFD placed an additional written purchase order with Tvia for approximately $3.16 million. Based on SFD's purchase order and other information available to Tvia's finance department, the Company recognized approximately $3.16 million in revenue on this sale for the first quarter of Tvia's 2007 fiscal year, which ended June 30, 2006.
- 41. As with the prior SFD order, it was improper for Tvia to recognize revenue on this sale because it was subject to the side agreement documented in the letter of intent signed by Silva and dated April 27, 2006.
- 42. In order to carry out his fraud, Silva continued to conceal this side agreement from Tvia's CEO, CFO, and auditors. As a result, for the quarter ended June 30, 2006, Tvia improperly recognized approximately $3.16 million in revenue, overstating quarterly revenue by 164.8%.

Silva Misled Tvia and Its Auditors Concerning the Collectability of Certain Delinquent Accounts

- 43. In late 2005, Silva learned that Tvia's auditors were scrutinizing several instances in which customers were delinquent in their payments to the Company. Silva understood that, among other things, the auditors were considering whether to require Tvia to reverse some or all of the revenue it had previously recognized relating to these delinquent accounts, on the ground that it was no longer reasonable to believe that the revenue was collectible.
- 44. In order to mislead Tvia's auditors, and avoid the reversal of revenue, on at least two occasions Silva caused Tvia to misapply a payment it received from a new customer in order to pay down delinquent amounts owed by a separate customer.
- 45. The first instance concerns Ricom, a Chinese customer which by late 2005 was past due on Tvia invoices totaling more than $740,000. In February 2006, Silva convinced another customer, Protech Perennial Limited ("Protech"), to submit a $100,000 deposit for a then-unavailable line of Tvia chips. On or about February 24, 2006, Tvia received a wire transfer from Protech for $100,000.

46. In order to convince Tvia's finance staff to apply these funds to Ricom's account, Silva falsely claimed that Protech had wired the money on Ricom's behalf, due to purported Chinese government restrictions on Ricom's wiring money out of that country. By this conduct, Silva mislead Tvia's CEO, CFO and auditors regarding the collectability of past due amounts owed by Ricom.

- 47. The second instance concerns EUT and MPEG, two Chinese customers that owed significant past due amounts to Tvia. In June 2006, Silva convinced another customer, Datavision (also known as Data International), to submit a $200,000 deposit against an expected future order of Tvia product. On or about June 29, 2006, Tvia received a wire transfer from Datavision for $200,000.
- 48. In order to convince Tvia's finance staff to apply these funds to the accounts of EUT and MPEG, Silva falsely claimed that Datavision had wired the money on EUT's and MPEG's behalf, due to purported Chinese government restrictions on Datavision's wiring money out of that country. By this conduct, Silva misled Tvia's CEO, CFO and auditors regarding the collectability of past due amounts owed by EUT and MPEG.

Tvia's Internal Investigation And Related Matters

- 49. On January 30, 2007, Tvia issued a press release indicating that the market should not rely on any financial statements, earnings press releases, and similar communications issued by Tvia for its 2006 and 2007 fiscal years. Tvia had already issued one restatement just two months prior. Tvia's November 22, 2006 restatement arose from the Company's inability to timely collect or enforce payment terms on sales to certain of its customers in Asia and a determination by the Company that sales to these customers should have been recognized on sell-through to end users, as evidenced by cash collection.
- 50. In the January 30 press release, Tvia noted the November 22, 2006 restatement of its historical financial statements for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2006 and for the quarters ended December 31, 2005 and June 2006 to defer approximately $6.4 million of revenue originally recognized on delivery to certain customers. The Company continued:
 - In January 2007, the Company was provided with new evidence with respect to undisclosed side arrangements affecting the payment terms and obligations with certain of its customers.

56. As a result of the conduct described above, Tvia, directly or indirectly, in connection with

1	the purchase or sale of securities, by the use of means or instrumentalities of interstate commerce, or
2	the mails, with scienter:
3	(a) employed devices, schemes, or artifices to defraud;

7	(c) engaged in acts, practices, or courses of business which operated or would
8	operate as a fraud or deceit upon other persons, including purchasers and
9	sellers of securities.
10	57. Silva knowingly provided substantial assistance to Tvia's violations of Section 10(b) of
11	the Exchange Act [15 U.S.C. § 78j(b)] and Rule 10b-5 [17 C.F.R. § 240.10b-5], and therefore is
12	liable as an aider and abettor pursuant to Section 20(e) of the Exchange Act [15 U.S.C. § 78t(e)].
13	58. Unless restrained and enjoined, Silva will continue to violate and aid and abet violations
14	of Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act [15 U.S.C. § 78j(b)] and Rule 10b-5 [17 C.F.R. § 240.10b-5].

15	81. By the conduct alleged above, Silva violated Section 13(b)(5) of the Exchange Act [15
16	U.S.C. § 78m(b)(5)] which prohibits anyone from knowingly circumventing a system of internal
17	accounting, or knowingly falsifying certain books, records, and accounts.
18	82. Unless restrained and enjoined, Silva will continue to violate Section 13(b)(5) of the
19	Exchange Act [15 U.S.C. § 78m(b)(5)].
20	TENTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF
21	(Falsifying Books and Records—Violation of Rule 13b2-1 of the Exchange Act)
22	83. The Commission realleges and incorporates by this reference Paragraphs 1 through 51,
23	above.
24	84. By engaging in the conduct described above, Silva falsified or caused to be falsified
25	Tvia's books, records and accounts in violation of Rule 13b2-1 under the Exchange Act [17 C.F.R. §
26	240.13b2-1].
27	85. Silva has violated and, unless restrained and enjoined, will continue to violate, Rule 13b2-1
28	under the Exchange Act [17 C.F.R. § 240.13b2-1].
