Privacy Act of 1974; Removal of a System of Records

Pursuant to the provisions of the Privacy Act of 1974 (5 U.S.C. 552a), the United States Marshals Service, Department of Justice, is eliminating a system of records entitled "Special Detail System, Justice/USM-005." Special detail records consist of logistical information generated to ensure that a particular high-risk operational activity, e.g., civil disturbance, special trial, etc., is staffed by the necessary personnel, equipment and skills required to accomplish the safety and protection of those persons involved in or exposed to danger because of the particular activity. Upon review, it has been determined that these records are in fact retrieved by subject matter or case number and thus do not constitute a system of records within the definition of the Privacy Act. Accordingly, the system, as published in the Federal Register on January 29, 1986 (51 FR 3696), is removed from the Department's compilation of Privacy Act systems.

Dated: January 5, 1988.

Under the provisions of the Privacy Act of 1974 (5 U.S.C. 552a), the Executive Office for United States Attorneys (EOUSA) proposes to modify its system of records entitled "Criminal Case Files, JUSTICE/USA-007," which was last published on August 23, 1983 (48 FR 38326).

and to individuals, private counsel, and collection agencies, where necessary and appropriate. In addition, disclosure under subsection (b)(12) of the Privacy Act will assist efforts to encourage the payment of overdue debts. Changes have been italicized for public convenience.

Title 5 of the U.S. Code, Sections 552a(e) (4) and (11), require that the public be given 30 days in which to comment on new routine uses.
