I've taught my twelve year old daughter to use Google and have been shocked to find that these "high-jacked" pages contain links to adult related sites hosting such topics as sex toys and teen sex. I've had to since forbid her from using Google. ... If this continues to happen, I will simply have to strike Google and any of it affiliates from my search tools.

Subject: adult content directory on front page of google

Why are you advertising adult content sites on the google front page? My children use google all the time for school and leisure stuff, and I don't want them running into stuff about anal sex and bestiality. This seems to be a remarkable departure for a responsible company its enough to put you off using google. And to people who don't understand the web well, the way in which your URL is displayed normally in the address bar you would assume it is your site. When you check the properties you see that they have inserted their url in front of yours, however it only displays your URL.

Hi. I've always been a loyal Google user, but for the past few weeks, whenever I search for something I just get results that put my string into advertisements. HELP PLEASE. I MISS THE OLD GOOGLE!!

Subject: browser hijack

Lately I have been having trouble searching in GOOGLE. When I do a search, it takes a long time. The links on search results go through www.searchassistant.com. I have tried every possible method to clean my computer, from running anti-virus to manually cleaning some of the registry entries. Can you suggest something to get rid of the problem?
