

HELP PRESERVE HISTORY

Volunteer at the Nixon Library

As a nonpartisan, federal historical institution, it's our honor to serve the public through our museum, archive, and education departments. And, since we work for the American people, and thus you, we could use your help in all three!

THE MUSEUM

The museum staff develops and installs both temporary and permanent exhibitions as well as preserves and catalogs the Library's collection of priceless artifacts. Volunteers will work closely with staff to maintain collections records, store museum items, assist in preparing, installing, and removing exhibits, answer the public's questions about the museum's collection, and undertake research projects pertaining to public programming and exhibitions. For more information, contact Nixon@nara.gov.

THE EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

The education staff oversees school tours, develops innovative educational resources for both the web and museum visitors, coordinates public events, and works closely with teachers and school districts to create curriculum and programming. Volunteers lead school tours, conduct research, develop educational materials, and assist with programs. For more information, contact NixonEducation@nara.gov.

THE ARCHIVE

The archival staff is responsible for processing, preserving and making available to the public the documents, photographs, and tapes from the life and times of President Nixon. Volunteers work directly with either textual or audio visual archivists on a variety of different preservation, digitization and reference projects. For more information, contact Nixon@nara.gov.
