LETTER FOR THE ADMINISTRATOR, U.S. AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

SUBJECT: USAID Is Responsive to SIGIR Recommendations (SIGIR 11-017)

The Inspector General Act of 1978, as amended, requires SIGIR to identify in its semiannual report each significant recommendation described in previous semiannual reports on which corrective action has not been completed. We conducted this review to follow up on those recommendations SIGIR made to the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) to determine the status of corrective actions. The objectives of this report are to determine whether USAID has a system to track and oversee the status of SIGIR recommendations, and has taken appropriate action. Our review found that USAID has an effective and well-managed audit follow-up process and has taken appropriate actions on all but two SIGIR recommendations to date.

Background

The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Circular A-50, Audit Followup, dated September 29, 1982, provides agency guidance for following up on and resolving audit findings and recommendations. The Circular states that the agency’s audit follow-up official has responsibility for ensuring that (1) systems of audit follow up, resolution, and corrective action are documented and in place, (2) timely responses are made to all audit reports, (3) disagreements are resolved, (4) corrective actions are actually taken, and (5) reporting requirements are met.

OMB Circular A-50 and the Inspector General Act also provide the guidance and requirements for agency responses and follow up to audit reports. The Circular states that responses to audit reports are written comments by agency officials indicating agreement or disagreement on reported findings and recommendations. Comments indicating agreement on final reports shall include planned corrective actions and, where appropriate, dates for achieving actions. Comments indicating disagreement shall explain fully the reasons for disagreement.

The Inspector General Act defines other terms and requirements used in the audit follow-up process. For example the term "management decision" is defined as “the evaluation by agency management of the findings and recommendations included in an audit report and the issuance of a final decision by management concerning its response to such findings and recommendations, including actions concluded to be necessary.” The Act defines the term "final action" as “the completion of all actions that agency management has concluded, in its management decision, are necessary with respect to the findings and recommendations included in an audit report; and in the event that the management concludes no action is necessary, final action occurs when a management decision has been made.”
SIGIR defines open recommendations as those that the agency (1) agreed with in its response to the audit report and provided corrective action plans that need to be confirmed as having been taken, (2) did not indicate that it agreed or disagreed with in its response, or (3) did not respond to before the final report was issued. According to OMB Circular A-50, it is incumbent on both the Office of the Inspector General and agency management to work together to address open recommendations by tracking and coordinating their resolution.

Actions Confirmed Taken On All but Two Open Recommendations

SIGIR’s follow-up review found that USAID has taken appropriate final actions on all but two open SIGIR recommendations to date. Between October 2004 and January 2011, SIGIR made 19 recommendations to USAID. At the start of this audit in January 2011, we had closed 13 recommendations, but 6 remained open, which required additional research to determine their status. Our review has resulted in the closure of four of the six recommendations, and SIGIR is working with USAID officials to close the remaining two recommendations. Appendix B summarizes the results of our findings for four open recommendations with which the agency concurred and has taken action.

Effective and Well-Managed Audit Follow-up Process

We found that USAID has an effective and well-managed follow-up process and tracking system for SIGIR audit reports and recommendations. USAID’s audit follow-up policies and procedures are contained in its Automated Directives System 595, Audit Management Program, which incorporates OMB Circular A-50 audit follow-up requirements. Specifically, the Directives provide the procedures for managing the agency’s audit tracking system. Figure 1 illustrates USAID’s current follow-up process for audit reports and recommendations.
According to the agency's directives, USAID's Management Control Review Committee, chaired by the Deputy Administrator, provides oversight for the identification, correction, and reporting of internal control and audit deficiencies. The Bureau for Management, Office of the Chief Financial Officer, Audit Performance and Compliance Division is responsible for monitoring agency responses and otherwise manages USAID’s automated follow-up tracking process called the Consolidated Audit and Compliance Tracking System.
USAID begins its audit recommendation follow-up process once SIGIR issues an audit report containing recommendations for agency action. Once a SIGIR report is issued, USAID’s Iraq Office, Bureau of Middle East, adds that report and recommendations to a master database in its audit tracking system. To monitor the status of USAID implementation of SIGIR recommendations, the Division requires that the Iraq Office provides periodic status reports. In SIGIR’s case, the Iraq Office is specifically responsible for ensuring timely and appropriate agency responses, audit resolutions, and audit follow up to SIGIR audit reports and recommendations. The Division then records this information into its tracking system.

We compared SIGIR’s database on the status of recommendations to that prepared by USAID and found that USAID had generally followed its procedures. As previously discussed, we also found that we could have closed four of our six open recommendations had USAID provided us with follow-up action information contained in its audit tracking system. However at this time, the USAID has no process or procedures to coordinate or provide audit follow-up information to SIGIR, as required by OMB Circular A-50.

Conclusions

USAID has taken appropriate corrective actions on four of the six open SIGIR recommendations which we have closed and is working with SIGIR to resolve the remaining two. In addition, we found that the agency’s audit tracking system is effective and well-managed. Finally, USAID and SIGIR do not currently have a process to share audit follow-up information; therefore, audit recommendations are unnecessarily remaining open. We believe that it would be in the best interest of both agencies to coordinate and periodically share audit follow-up information in each other’s databases in order to reconcile any differences and close recommendations in a timely manner.

Recommendations

We recommend that the Administrator, U.S. Agency for International Development, direct the Assistant Administrator for Management to develop a process to periodically provide SIGIR information on the status of actions to implement SIGIR recommendations.

Management Comments

USAID management concurred with SIGIR’s recommendation. The USAID management response is printed in its entirety in Appendix E.

Appendix A—Scope and Methodology

In January 2011, the Special Inspector General for Iraq Reconstruction (SIGIR) announced Project 1104 to review the status of significant audit recommendations made by SIGIR to the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID). We conducted this review to follow up on those recommendations SIGIR made to the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) to determine the status of corrective actions, and to determine whether USAID has a system to track and oversee the status of SIGIR recommendations. This audit was performed under the authority of Public Law 108-106, as amended, which also incorporates the duties and responsibilities of inspectors general under the Inspector General Act of 1978. SIGIR conducted its work during March 2011 in the United States and in Baghdad, Iraq.

To accomplish our audit objectives, we obtained and analyzed documentation provided by the USAID Management Control Review Committee and the Bureau for Management, Office of the Chief Financial Officer, Audit Performance and Compliance Division, who oversee the audit follow-up process and manage the agency’s audit tracking and follow-up system. This included policies and procedures for managing the audit follow-up process and also information on the status of SIGIR’s open recommendations. We also met with the USAID’s Iraq Office, Bureau of Middle East, that is specifically responsible for ensuring timely and appropriate agency responses, audit resolutions, and audit follow up to SIGIR audit reports and recommendations. Both the Management Control Review Committee and the Middle East Officer were able to provide explanations on actions taken and the necessary supporting documentation. In addition, the officials provided information on and from its audit tracking and follow-up system.

We conducted this audit in accordance with generally accepted government auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain sufficient, appropriate evidence to provide a reasonable basis for our findings and conclusions based on our audit objectives. We believe that the evidence obtained provides a reasonable basis for our findings and conclusions based on our audit objective.

Internal Controls

In conducting the audit, we assessed USAID’s policies and procedures for its audit follow-up process and found them to be adequate. The results of this review are presented in the body of the report.

Use of Computer-processed Data

We used computer-processed data from USAID’s audit tracking system and confirmed its reliability using USAID’s written responses and supporting documentation of corrective actions.

Dear Mr. Bowen:

I am pleased to provide the U.S. Agency for International Development’s (USAID) formal response on the draft SIGIR audit report “USAID Is Responsive to SIGIR Recommendations.” (SIGIR 11-017)

Recommendation No 1:
We recommend that U.S. Agency for International Development, Assistant Administrator for Management direct the appropriate offices to develop a process to periodically provide SIGIR information on the status of actions to implement SIGIR recommendations.

USAID concurs with this recommendation. USAID through the Middle East Bureau’s Iraq Office will provide SIGIR regular updates on open recommendations on a semi-annual basis after the second quarter of a fiscal year and after the fourth quarter of the fiscal year.

In addition, as mentioned in the audit report, USAID will continue to work with SIGIR on closing out the two open recommendations listed in the report.

Thank you for the opportunity to respond to the SIGIR final report and for the courtesies extended by your staff in the conduct of this audit review.

If you have any questions concerning this report, please feel free to contact me.
Sincerely,

George Laudato
Special Assistant to the Administrator for the Middle East
