Herstory Corner: Your At-Home Centennial Guide

MABEL PING-HUA LEE

"[True feminism] is nothing more than the extension of democracy or social justice and equality of opportunities to women."

Asian Pacific American Heritage Month

In honor of Asian Pacific American Heritage Month, we're spotlighting the incredible contributions of Mabel Ping-Hua Lee! The first Chinese woman in the United States to earn her doctorate, Lee was an advocate for the rights of women and the Chinese community in America. Despite facing discriminatory immigration laws, she played an important part in the fight for voting rights both in the United States and in China. Learn more in The Suff Buffs blog!

Lessons in Perseverance

Check out this recent op-ed by WSCC Vice Chair Colleen Shogan in the Pittsburgh Tribune-Review. The history of the suffrage movement is full of inspiring examples of persevering through difficult times. Through wars, riots, imprisonment, and even a pandemic, the courageous suffragists never gave up. The story of their resilience can help us find our own. Read the article to learn more!
