Herstory Corner: Your At-Home Centennial Guide

Marching On: A Message to You from the WSCC

For the past year, the Women's Suffrage Centennial Commission has been planning programs and initiatives to recognize the 100th anniversary of the 19th Amendment and to amplify women's history. We are grateful to our wonderful partners, many of whom have been planning for the centennial of women's right to vote for years if not decades. Now, we all find ourselves in Women's History Month 2020 with our country and the world facing an unprecedented health crisis. But, if there's one thing we can learn from the suffragists, it's perseverance.

In that spirit, the WSCC is working with its partners to adapt centennial commemoration plans to the evolving situation with COVID-19. And for now, as you stay at home and prioritize the health and safety of you and your loved ones, the WSCC will send out weekly Herstory Corner e-newsletters to provide you with content to entertain and inspire, and to help you continue to commemorate the centennial of the 19th Amendment.

Keep an eye on our website and Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram for more resources and activities.

Free Suffrage Displays

The National Archives, in partnership with the Women's Suffrage Centennial Commission, is providing 2,500 free "Rightfully Hers" popup displays to institutions nationwide in honor of the 100th anniversary of the 19th Amendment and women's constitutional right to vote. Participating venues will also receive digital educational materials, and can keep and re-use the display. Reserve Your Display>>

The Suff Buffs: Your Not So Average Herstory Series

The women's suffrage movement is filled with extraordinary, dramatic, inspiring, complex, and too-little-known stories. We are bringing some of those stories to you, through the WSCC's new blog series, The Suff Buffs. In our first three posts, hear from leading suffrage experts Winifred Conkling, Johanna Neuman, and Rebecca Roberts. Follow along as we release new articles each month through August 2020. Kids Corner: Flat Susan B

Need new coloring material for your kids? Here's "Flat Susan B," a cartoon cutout of the iconic suffragist that can be downloaded, decorated, photographed, and shared. "Flat Susan B" provides a fun and engaging way to talk with kids about the history of women's fight for their right to vote and the importance of this centennial year. Download Flat Susan B>>
